

THE TEST THAT TELLS.

You can get all the Convinching Proof You Want by Reading Shenadoah Papers.

When the reader wants any article of value, he naturally prefers to deal with someone he can depend upon.

If mixed up in any law suit, a good, responsible lawyer is generally the first necessity sought.

If lost upon a rail-road, directions from a settler could be relied upon, those from a stranger would be doubted.

The test that tells the tale of merit is the test of friends and neighbors.

Shenadoah people endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

Can you ask for better evidence? Read this case:

Mr. F. J. Davis, of 15 North Jardin street, undertaker, says: "My back and kidneys were in bad condition when I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills and procured them from Kirilin's drug store. I was lame across my loins and my back ached when standing. If I sat for any length of time sharp twinges caught me right in my back when I attempted to get up. I felt times a disagreeable sensation in the back of my head and neck and the kidney secretions became affected and greatly disturbed my rest at night. Doan's Kidney Pills stopped the pain and removed the difficulty with the secretions and freed me from all lameness."

CUBAN'S BELIEF ON LAWS.

Senator Capote Studying the Laws of Other Nations.

THE CUBANS ARE STUDYING.

At Day and Night Schools, Established to Prepare Them for the Use of the Franchise, the Attendance is Numerous and Enthusiastic.

Havana, May 22.—Senator Domingo Mendez Capote, secretary of government, has been devoting considerable time to a study of the electoral laws of various nations, with a view of formulating plans for inauguration here. Universal suffrage is considered advisable in some respects, but it would have many objectionable features. On the other hand Senator Capote thinks an educational qualification would not prove satisfactory, unless sufficiently comprehensive to exclude those taught especially for elections. He says the Cuban league is doing much in the way of preparing the voters to exercise the electoral function. Day and night schools are conducted in all the villages for this purpose, the education being gratuitous and attendance being numerous and enthusiastic.

The great objection to a property qualification is that a majority of those entitled who formerly had property, the Spaniards in particular, and many capable Cubans, have been totally ruined during the last three years and would not be justly treated were a property qualification enforced. Senator Capote is carefully considering the problem, and will submit his views to the General Brookes about the middle of next month, when he will ask for the issuance of such a decree as he will then have in readiness. The Cubans, for the most part, however, disapprove the present system of making laws, contending that Senators Capote and Laurua have too much influence with the military administration and persuade General Brooke to sign decrees under a belief, on his part, that the people desire them, when, as a matter of fact, the secretaries have considered nothing except their own individual wishes.

Senator Laurua, secretary of the department of justice, entirely disapproves such reforms in the criminal procedure as the abolition of the practice of incommunicado and the conferring upon accused persons of the right to demand a specific charge against them, to face their accusers and to hear the testimony offered. In this position the Havana bar supports him. The substance of his argument against the reforms—which is an elaborate affair—is that under such conditions criminals would be able to concoct a defense. He thinks it would be inadvisable to adopt the American system of trial, and seems to believe it would be better that the innocent should suffer than that the guilty should have a chance to escape. This view will undoubtedly be met with as soon as the reform decree can be properly drawn. A number of persons interested in the "debtor and creditor decree" attended the departure of the five commissioners yesterday afternoon for Washington, where they hope to secure a modification of the measure. Dr. Juan de la Cruz, the head of the commission, said the question was one of great importance because affecting millions already invested and preventing millions from being invested.

"The proof of what I say is seen in the fact," he declared, "that on the day when the decree was issued all loan transactions ceased. The very next day the rate for loans rose from 7 to 8 per cent in excess of the usual figures. Business men consider that they have no security in Cuba that is safe and they people who behave the decree was most desired are really the principal sufferers."

General Ludlow has revoked a concession given in 1704 to the O'Reilly family, under which they were allowed to tax every head of cattle slaughtered to the amount of 50 cents. This will save about $100 per day. It is estimated that during the existence of the concession the family has collected from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000.

Hark Destroyed by Fire, Man Missing.
Bayonne, N. J., May 22.—The German oil carrying bark Ariadne, Captain Ehler, was burned to the water's edge yesterday near the docks of the Standard Oil company, in this city. Hans Rencke, 22 years of age, is missing, and it is believed that he lost his life in the fire. The fire started from an unknown cause on the bark, and in a very short time spread to the pier and to a large building on the pier. The Ariadne was hauled out of the stream and shortly afterwards beached, where she was destroyed. The pier to which the fire communicated was destroyed, as was also the large building. Two other piers were badly damaged. The loss is about $25,000.

MISHAL TO THE PARIS.

Big Atlantic Liner on the Rocks Near Falmouth, England.

NEAR BY THE WRECKED MOHEGAN

The Vessel Struck on an Outer Ledger of the Treacherous Manacles Reef. All the Passengers Taken in Safety to Falmouth.

Falmouth, May 22.—The American line steamer Paris, Captain Watkins, from Southampton and Cherbourg for New York, struck on an outlying ledge of the Manacles at a point half a mile from where the wrecked Atlantic transport liner Mohegan lies and five miles from Falmouth. Soon after 1 o'clock in the morning, at high tide, and in a dense fog, she ran ashore. The vessel was struck on the starboard side and tugs were soon literally swarming around the vessel to render assistance. A majority of the passengers, who numbered 380, were brought to Falmouth, where they obtained lodgings for the night. The crew remained aboard.

The first intimation of the vessel striking the rocks was a slight grating sound, which was followed by a second and more pronounced shock. The lookout shouted that there was something looming ahead, but before there was time to reverse the engines the ship had gone on the rocks, 200 yards from the shore. Assistance was summoned by means of rockets, and the coast guards promptly telephoned to the life saving station for boats. A majority of the passengers were made aware that an accident had happened until they were called up by the stewards. On reaching the dock they found the ship's boats in perfect readiness for their reception. The sea was perfectly calm, and the only discomfort that the passengers experienced was that of the slight rain that was falling at the time. Owing to the calmness of the sea the boats could be managed with entire safety. Perfect order prevailed aboard the vessel. Captain Watkins stood on the bridge giving orders, and his perfect self-possession and calmness of demeanor had a reassuring effect upon the passengers. In accordance with the instructions of the captain, the women and children were the first to be taken off the ship. Such perfect order was maintained that a passenger described the scene as simply a slow procession of women and children walking in single file to the boats.

It is said that a Falmouth pilot boat showed a warning signal to the Paris, telling the captain that he would put the vessel on top of the Mohegan if he did not alter the course of the ship. The warning, however, came too late, and the Paris struck on a ledge to the westward of the Manacles. It is believed that the steamer has a large rent in her bottom in the forward part of the ship. Tugs are standing by her and it is anticipated in an effort to get her off the rocks.

The soundings made showed nine fathoms of water forward and fourteen aft, but the ship rests on a flat rock, while the rocks rising on each side of her hold her almost erect. It is stated that the captain of the Paris was so perfectly confident that they were pursuing the proper course that the vessel was steaming 18 or 19 knots an hour when she struck.

There will be little danger to the steamer if the long calm continues, but should the wind veer to the east or southeast the consequences might be serious. The officers' log determines the position of the wreck of the Paris, and the position of the Paris even more out of her course than the wreck of the Mohegan, also having passed between the Mohegan and the shore, and then, when the mistake was discovered, having changed her course in the hope of clearing the rocks, thus miraculously escaping the Manacles.

In connection with the accident to the Paris it will be of interest to mariners and travelers to hear that persistent agitation since the wreck of the Mohegan has at last induced the Trinity Brethren to act, and last week they promised to erect a gas lighted, automatic sound producing buoy on the Manacles in place of the useless bell buoy now there.

At the first summons a few of the passengers appeared in their night clothes, but as soon as they discovered that there was no danger they returned to their rooms and made themselves ready to leave the ship. The passengers all behaved in the best possible manner. There was no screaming on the part of the women, and the most perfect order was maintained.

Mrs. A. G. Spalding, of Chicago, said: "I was well forward and felt the shock. When I aroused my color faded and I insisted upon staying in bed, exclaiming: 'If we must drown let us drown in bed.' It was with some difficulty that I persuaded her to go on deck, even when rescue was assured."

The passengers are lavish in their praise of the admirable behavior of the officers and crew, and declare that it was due to their self-possession that no accident occurred to any one. Perfect discipline, they say, was maintained throughout.

A Narrow Escape.
Thankful words were written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough and in an hour terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my spirit above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at A. Wasley's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

The loss of his place is said to have worried Mr. Sellick until his health broke down, and he often expressed the wish that he would die.

MYSTERIOUS OHIO TRAGEDY.

Mother and Son Murdered and Another Son Probably Dying.

Bellevue, O., May 22.—Mrs. Rachael Austin and her son William were murdered in their home at Middleburg, this county, Saturday night, and their bodies nearly cremated in the house, which was set on fire. Ernest Austin, a younger son, lies at the point of death in a neighbor's house from a bullet wound in the breast. The crime is shrouded in mystery. At daybreak Sunday morning Ernest appeared at the door of the neighbor's house. He was desperately wounded. He said that early in the morning he was awakened by a tap on the door. When he went down stairs he was met by a robber, who shot him. Killed his mother and brother and then set fire to the house to conceal the crime. Soon after making the statement he became unconscious, and it is not believed he can recover.

Notwithstanding the story told by Austin, his neighbors believe that he killed his mother and brother and then shot himself, although there is no positive evidence on that point. The Austins were notorious for their quarrels, and Ernest was especially high tempered. A servant who left their house Saturday evening says the two men and their mother were then quarreling over the property, the mother declaring that she would on Monday apply to the courts for a settlement, and Ernest declared that he would never permit that.

Governor at Gibraltar.
San Francisco, May 22.—The United States auxiliary cruiser Yosemite, under the command of Captain Richard P. Leary, U. S. N., the newly appointed governor of Guam, P. I., and a garrison of marines, has arrived here, on route for that island.

There is no argument so good as an absolute, plain, truthful statement of fact. There is nothing so interesting as fact. In the true happiness of every day life of every-day people are materials for most thrilling novels. There are every day stories of heroism, suffering and the final triumph of good over evil—of happiness finally crowning endeavor. Here is a case in point.

In the county of Escambia in Alabama is the little town of Flomaton and there lives Mrs. Mollie Grimes. She was a good wife and mother but several years ago she found her health slipping away from her. She realized that this meant the inevitable nervousness and irritability that would surely lose for her the affection of her children and husband, and that as her health declined discord and misery would appear in her home. She was filled with the loving motherly instinct, but two miscarriages in succession almost broke her heart. She had almost lost hope when the clouds rolled away and the light of health and happiness returned.

She tells her story in these words: "I was almost heart broken to think I could not raise any more children and had to suffer as I did. I had lost three children by miscarriages and I fully expected to lose another when, in August, I learned of the 'Pleasant Pelet' and began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and took it until after baby was born in November. With other children I had suffered everything that flesh could suffer from time I was in perfect health, and very easy times. I was only a short time, but I can't praise the 'Pleasant Pelet' medicines enough for I believe they certainly saved my baby's life and maybe my own life as well. I feel that the 'Pleasant Pelet' act like a charm."
